

CCAOI signs MoU with Internet Industry Associations across 5 continents

CCAOI has signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with associations of 5 continents including United States Internet Industry Association (USIIA), Internet Industry Association, Australia (IIAA), Africa Internet Service Providers Association (AISPA), Internet Industry Association, Singapore (IIAS), and Internet Service Providers Association of South Africa (ISPA SA) during the third meeting of the International Internet Industry Alliance (IIIA) an alliance created to facilitate communication and information-sharing among national and regional associations that represent companies engaged in Internet connectivity, content and commerce.

This MoU encourages the exchange of information and communication on topics of mutual interest. It needs to be mentioned that collectively the participants in the Alliance represent approximately 200,000 Internet companies across five continents servicing a third of the world's population.

Interestingly, the meeting held at Johannesburg coincided with South Africa's annual Internet conference, iWeek. In this conference, all associations reiterated their commitments to bring the entire population of the world online. Other issues related to internet like internet security; copyrights and limitations on intermediary liability; the Anti-Counterfeiting Trade Agreement (ACTA); and combating cybercrime were also discussed.

Connect9 on behalf of NIXI to popularize domain name amongst masses

Connect9 would be conducting a prestigious project on behalf of NIXI to create awareness and sensitize the end users about domain names and its importance, which in turn would create urgency amongst the people to have their own domain names. The project duration would be for six months and run across the country.
